Picture Dictionaries for Lower Primary

The dictionaries give constant interaction with the learner and will boost word recognition. In addition, most of the pictures are about familiar things that learners can identify with. You will find them irresistibly useful in the CBC journey.

Approved by KICD for use in the new curriculum for:

- Pre-Primary 1
- Pre-Primary 2
- Grade 1
- Grade 2
- Grade 3

Each

Picture Books

Constant interaction with the picture books will boost word interaction in children. In addition, most of the pictures are things that are familiar and learners can identify with at this level.

They cover the child's total environment, book by book as each title concentrates on one theme to make it easy for the child to explore and understand the immediate phenomenon and the new ideas from the rest of the world. You will be delighted to see just how sharp they become.

ECDE Key Skills Books

Pattern Writing

Pattern writing series is primarily aimed at enhancing learners' pre-writing skills. These skills are essential for a child to develop the ability to hold and move a pencil effectively to produce legible writing. They effectively improve handwriting in a creative way.

Colouring Books

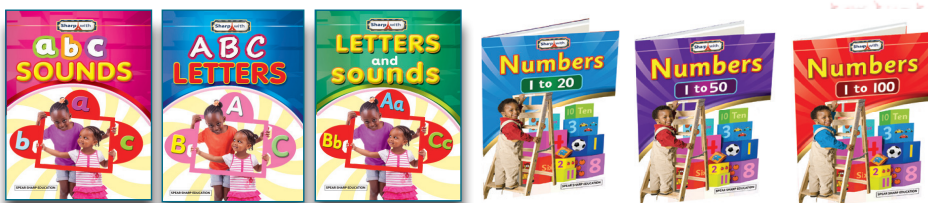

This is a series of three books that aims at helping a child learn how to draw. In the process, the child also learns how to read and colour. There are plenty of activities to give the child enough practice.

Literature Setbook for Senior Schools

Rays in the Raindrops is an inspiring biography tracing Musyoki's journey from a difficult childhood on Kenya's arid Yatta Plateau to national and continental leadership in the publishing industry. Shaped by family, faith, communal responsibility and the turbulence of post-independence Kenya, he confronts poverty, displacement, personal loss and professional setbacks with courage and determination. His journey through education, teaching, publishing, entrepreneurship and philanthropy reveals how adversity can be transformed into opportunity and service. Rich in African history, cultural identity and intergenerational wisdom, the book explores resilience, belonging, leadership, family and the enduring power of community. With its universal message of hope and renewal, this compelling life story will appeal to young adults and general readers across Africa and the international audience

So Many Hungers

By Bhabani Bhattacharya

So Many Hungers is a heartwarming and moving novel, based on the man-made famine of Bengal in 1943. The novel delves into how the humans themselves were responsible for the famine in which their own citizens suffered.
